Bormann Launch Manhunt For Nazi

Bigwig Deputy Of Hitler Said Still Alive

BERLIN, March 27.—(AP)—An intensified and widespread manhunt, backed by the United States state department, is under way for the condemned Martin Bormann, missing deputy of Adolf Hitler, it was disclosed today.

Pictures of the shadowy Nazi bigwig have been produced and distributed by the state department to its embassies and ministries in Europe, South America and elsewhere.

Bormann, missing since the end of the war and condemned to the gallows in absentia by the international military tribunal at Nuremberg, never has been proved dead. On the contrary, he frequently has been reported seen alive at scattered places, but none of these reports have been substantiated.

To make the lookout for Bormann more systematic, the state department requested T. J. Duggan, of the American military government's political administration here, to obtain a good likeness of him for reproduction and distribution from Washington.

"This action was taken," Duggan said, "because we have been receiving hundreds of reports that Bormann has been seen here or there throughout Europe . . . so we want people to know what he looks like."

Britain Names Chief Planner

LONDON, March 27.—(CP)—Prime Minister Attlee today appointed Sir Edwin Plowden, chief executive officer of the ministry of aircraft production during the war, to the post of chief planning officer to direct Britain's drive for economic recovery.

THE APPOINTMENT coincided with a government decision to prohibit the use of gas and electricity for home heating during the summer months. The restrictions will be the first applied to users of gas, although their supplies have been cut by reduced pressures.

Attlee, setting 2,500,000 tons of coal as the fuel savings goal for non-industrial consumers during the summer, warned that even more stringent economies may be necessary.

Sir Edwin will be called upon to ensure that the country's maximum productive effort is directed where it is most needed.

However, "all decisions on planning policy will be made by the cabinet and not by the chief planning officer," Attlee told the House of Commons.

Dispose of Claims
LONDON, March 27.—(AP)—Great Britain and Norway signed an agreement today disposing of all major outstanding claims resulting from the British wartime use of Norwegian merchant ships. Claims and counter-claims were approximately $10,000,000 each.

Life Spared
SHANGHAI, March 27.—(AP)—The government commuted to life imprisonment today the death sentence passed last year on Chow Fu-Hai, former puppet premier of China.

Rescue Germans
BERLIN, March 27.—(AP)—Reports from the Soviet occupation zone said today fleets of motorboats were being used to rescue between 6,000 and 8,000 Germans trapped in their homes by flood waters of the Oder river, which broke through dikes above Kues-trin. Thus far only four deaths have been reported.

Hint "Canadian Movement"

End of Bloc Populaire Is Seen in New Party

MONTREAL, March 27.—(CP)—The Gazette said in an newspaper story today that "the candidacy of Paul Masse in the current Cartier by-election under the colors of 'autonomist and anti-Communist' probably marks the end of the Bloc Populaire Canadien as a political entity and the beginning of a new 'Canadian Movement' with nation-wide aims."

"THIS NEW movement, which will, it is hoped, spread to other parts of Canada, will have as a main platform 'Canada for Canadians,' and will not be tainted with the French Canadian nationalism which marked the birth of the Bloc," the paper said.

U.K. Ousts Reds On Atomic Work

LONDON, March 27.—(Reuters)—Some members of the civil service have been dismissed on the orders of military intelligence—the British undercover anti-espionage organization—it was learned here today. Some of these workers are connected with the development of atomic energy research.

Edmonton Papers Pay Top Price For Newsprint

An increase of $6 per ton in the price of newsprint paper has been announced by the manufacturers to Alberta publishers and will be effective April 1.

The price of newsprint delivered to Edmonton newspapers will continue to be the highest in North America. In addition to the numerous increases f.o.b. mill since the outbreak of war, the high freight rate from the Pacific coast to Edmonton is an added burden to the laid down cost at Edmonton.

Even more serious than the cost of newsprint delivered at point of consumption is the extra shortage of supply, and there is no indication of any relief or improvement in the situation.

Against Bracken

Revolt Reported In Tory Ranks

BY CHESTER BLOOM

Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau
OTTAWA, March 27.—A revolt against the leadership of John Bracken will come to a head in the meeting here Friday of the Dominion Progressive Conservative Association. The movement is centered on a concerted attempt to oust Mr. Bracken's chief lieutenant, J. M. Macdonnell, M.P. (Muskoka-Ontario) from the presidency of the national association.

IF MR. MACDONNELL can be ousted, the next chapter will be an effort to induce Mr. Bracken to retire in favor of some more aggressive leader such as John J. Diefenbaker (Lake Centre), Saskatchewan.

Mr. Macdonnell is under fire for alleged inability to organize the Progressive Conservative party in preparation for an election. But this is largely blamed on the alleged "pussy-footing" by his chief, Mr. Bracken is accused of failing

Charge Whip Held Over Rates Probe

By JOHN LEBLANC

OTTAWA, March 27.—(CP)—A charge that the railways were "holding the whip" over the national freight-rate inquiry was made before the Board of Transport Commissioners today by Col. J. L. Ralston, Maritime counsel in the hearings.

COL. RALSTON declared the companies were "using the threat of bankruptcy" to spur the pace of the inquiry and were assuming they were going to get the 30-per cent increases for which they have applied.

Isaac Pitblado of Winnipeg, chief railway counsel, denied the claim of Col. Ralston, which came during a warm exchange as counsel argued over the length of an Easter adjournment in the seven-week proceedings.

New Bomb Attack Made in Tel Aviv

JERUSALEM, March 27.—(AP)—A British constable was reported wounded in one leg today in a bomb attack on two police cars in front of the Tel Aviv divisional police headquarters. Three persons "believed to be Yemeneite Jews" were seen escaping toward the waterfront. Tel Aviv residents were roused by two explosions last night. Police said the blasts might have occurred by accident in a mine factory of the Jewish underground.

U.K. Ousts Reds On Atomic Work

LONDON, March 27.—(Reuters)—Some members of the civil service have been dismissed on the orders of military intelligence—the British undercover anti-espionage organization—it was learned here today. Some of these workers are connected with the development of atomic energy research.

THIS FOLLOWS the publication in the Communist Daily Worker of a report that M. L. S. had forced the dismissal of Communists from the civil service. The Daily Worker quoted Len White, secretary of the civil service clerical association, as the source of their report.

According to White, six Communists had been discharged and five others had been prevented from obtaining employment in the civil service.

The institution of professional civil servants said today three of their members—all scientists—had their promotion countermanded on instructions from M.L.S.

"ONE OF OUR members was a temporary servant and had his recommendation to the permanent staff cancelled," a spokesman said. "The promotion of the other two to higher paid duties was stopped."

L. A. C. Herbert, general secretary of the institution, went this afternoon to the treasury to discuss with them the question of the suspensions.

EARLIER this year, it was reported that M.L.S. had started a special service of top ranking agents to guard Britain's atomic secrets.

Treaty for Austria Likely at Parley

MOSCOW, March 27.—(AP)—Dr. Karl Gruber, Austrian foreign minister, conferred for 40 minutes today with Foreign Minister Molotov and said afterward he was encouraged about the prospect of getting an Austrian peace treaty completed at the Moscow conference. "I think the Soviet government wants to get a treaty," he said. "The whole atmosphere of the conversation was very good."

Western Floods Critical in Sask.

REGINA, March 27.—(CP)—Farmers in the Pie Lake bend region, 30 miles west of Saskatoon, were preparing to evacuate their homes if necessary today after the South Saskatchewan river ice there broke with a large roar.

With the critical point in western Canada's flood situation having shifted from Alberta to Saskatchewan, the farmers in the Pie Lake district have already moved their livestock to high grounds. Roads were reported impassable.

SIXTY MILES south of Saskatoon, at Elbow, the South Saskatchewan river was also threatening widespread damage, being at its highest level since 1928.

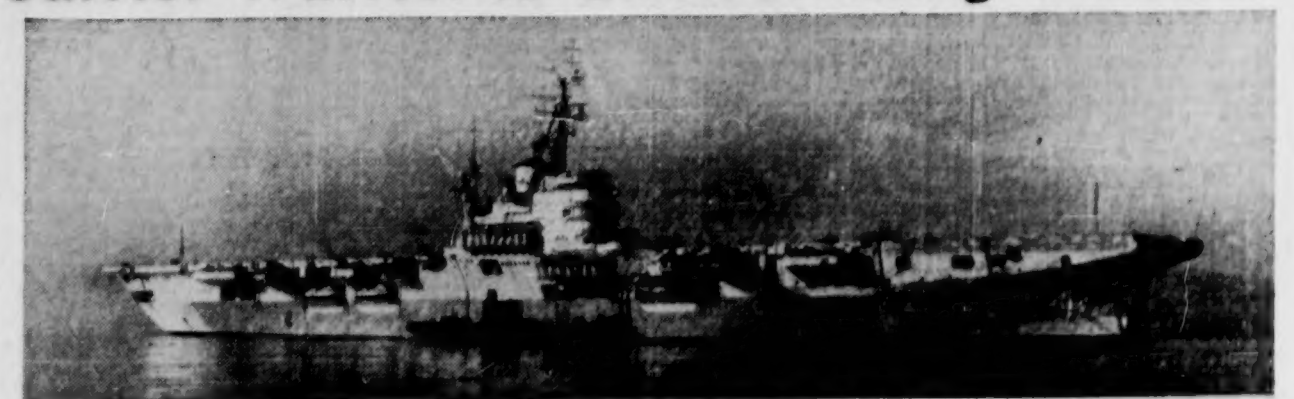

Its water lapped at the floor of a Canadian National Railway bridge, submerged a Canadian Pacific Railway pump house to cable level and crept up to the railway right of way and highway 45. There was a possibility it might rise higher.

Two Lose Lives In Sudbury Fire

SUDBURY, Ont., March 27.—(CP)—Two persons lost their lives and another was badly burned early today when fire destroyed the two-story, eight-room home of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Green. The dead were Mrs. Anne Peterson, the Greens' 29-year-old daughter, and Hugo E. Laine, aged 32. In hospital is Charles Koski, who lived with the Greens. The Greens and two others escaped when flames destroyed the frame structure within half an hour of their discovery.

Warship Returns From Training Cruise

Carrier Warrior Is Given Rousing Welcome

By IRVING WHYNOT

HALIFAX, March 27.—(CP)—This old naval port gave a rousing military welcome to the Canadian Navy's only capital ship, the aircraft carrier Warrior, and her two-destroyer escort today when the flat-top arrived back from a four-month training cruise which took her through southern waters to Esquimaut, B.C.

THE DESTROYER Nootka, as the senior escort craft, was first to edge into port in sunny, brisk weather reminiscent of the day the Warrior arrived in port for commissioning with the Canadian fleet early in 1946.

With ratings lining her wind-swept decks but with her 825 Squadron complement of Firefly planes stowed below, the Warrior entered her base port and tied up at the naval dockyard pier.

The Micmacs followed, tying up alongside her sister-ship Nootka without the aid of tugs.

On shore a guard of honor was drawn up for inspection by Commodore H. D. Dewolfe, senior officer afloat, and a naval band extended a musical welcome.

THE AIRCRAFT carrier, accompanied by Nootka, left here Nov. 5 for the first large-scale peacetime Canadian Navy exercises designed to give new-entry personnel maximum experience.

At that time she was expected to make the trip to British Columbia to be based with the Pacific Fleet. With some delay in the arrival of the carrier Magnificent from Britain, however, the Warrior now has been slated for Atlantic duty until the new carrier arrives.

Passing through the Panama Canal, Warrior engaged in exercises with the Uganda and Crescent, which returned to Esquimaut.

But Russia Continues Resistance

Great Britain and U.S. Insist Small Nations Share in Peace

MOSCOW, March 27.—(CP)—In their strongest declaration on the question before the conference of foreign ministers, State Secretary Marshall of the United States and Foreign Secretary Bevin of Britain last night staunchly championed the right of the middle and small powers to participate in the drafting of the German peace settlement.

MARSHALL particularly cited Canada as a nation which was justified by her war contribution in sharing in organizing the peace at all stages.

But Foreign Minister Molotov of Russia continued to express Soviet resistance, to liberalizing the peace-making procedure to include all the allies and said that while he recognized fully the big contribution the other allies made he felt that the proposed information and consultation conference was ample forum for their participation.

The participation issue was referred again to the deputy foreign ministers with further discussion in the council scheduled for Friday.

Speaking even more firmly than Marshall, Bevin said:

"I CANNOT accept the position that states like some of our dominions who declared war of their own volition and fought Hitler right to the end with forces in all the battle areas should be put in an inferior position."

In no circumstances could he be a party to such a procedure. Sharply replying to Molotov, Bevin said he did not want at all to turn the peace-making bodies into "discussion clubs" as Molotov shortly before had said they would become if the conference procedure was liberalized.

"I want that no offence be given or implied to those who fought from the beginning all the time for six long years. You cannot expect the people who fought to be excluded when the end came. If they were good enough to fight with us they are good enough to sit with us."

Program Difficult to Realize Business Investments Up 53 Pct. in 1947

OTTAWA, March 27.—(CP)—Canadian businessmen are planning 1947 investments 53 per cent higher than last year, Reconstruction Minister Howe announced today, but despite expected improvements in supply of basic materials, they will find it "difficult to realize fully" their program.

THE MINISTER tabled in the Commons two reports forecasting the 1947 investment intentions of business and the outlook for production of basic building materials. The investment survey showed that 12,000 firms plan to spend

Nuernberg Blast

NUERNBERG, March 27.—(AP)—A bomb explosion last night rocked headquarters of the Bavarian commissioner for racial and political persecutions. The building was damaged but no one was injured.

Free Production Of Cream Likely

By DICK JACKSON
(Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau)

OTTAWA, March 27.—Agricultural Minister Gardiner, tomorrow or at the beginning of next week, will announce partial government decontrol of the Dairy Industry. The Bulletin today was informed.

Through the past five years, dairies have been compelled to keep production of liquid cream down to the level of sales in 1942. Surplus cream thus was forced into the manufacture of butter and cheese.

Abolition of this quota system will mean the dairies again will have a free hand to produce cream for whatever purposes they choose.

It will mean greater supplies of liquid and ice cream for the consumers, and a return, after five years of whipping cream.

Pass PSV Act Changes

Trucking Monopoly Aired in Legislature

"Do you want this thing run by the truckers or by an impartial board?" asked Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works in the Legislature Wednesday as he defended a clause amending the Public Service Vehicles Act, which gave the Highway Traffic Board discretion to hold public or private hearings on applications for trucking certificates.

THE BILL CAME under sharp fire from some opposition members who saw in it an effort to impose bureaucratic controls over the trucking industry.

Opening gun in the barrage was fired by A. Davidson (Ind.-Calgary), who suggested that interested organizations should have an opportunity to present their cases before the assembly. A motion by Arthur Wray (Ind.-S.-Banff-Cochrane) that the bill be referred to the agricultural committee was ruled out of order, since the committee then sitting could only refer it back to the house.

Mr. Wray's motion was lost on a voice vote.

Fear was expressed that truckers were deeply entrenched as a result of the war.

78 Still Entombed

Trapped Miners All Feared Dead

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS

CENTRALIA, Ill., March 27.—(BUP)—Masked rescue crews reached the area of the explosion in Centralia Coal Mine No. 3 today and pushed forward to "make absolutely certain" that none of the trapped men still was alive.

THE RESCUE efforts still were slowed by carbon monoxide gas, but 16 more bodies were found and brought to the surface early today. They were discovered near where the explosion occurred 8,000 feet from the main shaft, and were mutilated.

The latest company tabulation showed:

Men in the mine at the time of the explosion—142.

Bodies recovered—23.

Men still entombed—78.

Rescued alive—31.

CHARGES that the mine was known to be dangerous came from several sources. A letter was made public which had been sent more than a year ago by officials of the local miner's union to Gov. Dwight H. Green. It charged that despite a previous inspection by state officials, the mine was unsafe, and asked the governor to "please save our lives" by removing alleged hazards.

Big 4 in Tangle On Austria Assets

By R. H. SHACKFORD

MOSCOW, March 27.—(BUP)—U.S. Secretary of State George C. Marshall insisted today that the United States could not be a party to a plan under which property seized by the Nazis from Austria after the Anschluss could now be considered German and subject to seizure by Russia as reparations.

MARSHALL implied that the Russians already had taken that action in their zone of Austria.

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov again rejected Marshall's original proposal that the deputies formulate a definition of what is a German asset in Austria.

The Big Four finally adjourned its 15th session after considering a French compromise which was watered down further by a Molotov amendment, but there was no agreement on any part of this asset issue which is holding up all progress on the Austrian treaty.

Bank Robbed

SUDBURY, Ont., March 27.—(CP)—A lone bandit who wielded a black revolver held up the Sudbury branch of the Bank of Toronto shortly after noon today and escaped with what bank officials described as "a considerable amount" of money. One official estimate placed the loss at several thousand dollars.

William Saul

Death of Former City Man Probed

LONDON, Eng., March 27.—(CP)—A coroner's inquest today returned a verdict of death from suicide while of unsound mind of William Saul, 39, formerly of Edmonton, Alta.

DURING THE inquest, court officials read a letter which they said was from the Edmonton Civic Relief Department which urged Saul, a former Canadian service man, to "do a disappearing act" for three years so that his estranged wife could claim a widow's allowance.

Saul was found dead in his gas-filled room in the Arden area of London. Police said the letter was found on Saul's body.

Coroner H. G. Broadbridge said at the inquest, "I am not surprised that Saul was disturbed by the letter."

THE LETTER was signed by J. W. Hunter, assistant superintendent of Edmonton's Civic Relief Department, and was dated Feb. 11, written on City of Edmonton notepaper, the letter advised that Saul's wife had been destitute since July, 1946, and a civic charge

Abbott Boosts Budget

Additional 55 Million Is Added to Estimates

OTTAWA, March 27, (CP)—Finance Minister Abbott yesterday tabled in the Commons supplementary estimates totalling $55,839,512 to cover unforeseen expenditures for the 1946-47 fiscal year which ends March 31.

IN ADDITION, he tabled a supplementary estimate of $6,100,000 to be added to the expenditures already forecast for the 1947-48 fiscal year.

The new estimates increased to $2,957,833,624 the forecast expenditures for 1946-47, and boosted the 1947-48 estimates to $2,001,978,634.

About two weeks ago, Mr. Abbott tabled the main estimates for the coming year and said expenditures were expected then to total $1,995,878,634 compared with $2,901,094,112. The supplementary for 1947-48 would make $600,000 available to the agriculture department for barley used as feed for livestock.

In addition it would provide the agriculture department with $100,000 to provide for losses incurred in the purchase, sale and export of agriculture products under provisions of the Agriculture Products Act.

IT WAS BELIEVED that Mr. Abbott would have to bring down other supplementary estimates later in the session to provide for subsidy payments to the provinces under new taxation agreements now awaiting ratification.

He said the additional $55,839,512 that had to be voted for 1946-47 a total of $36,439,036 was needed for normal services and $19,400,475 for demobilization and reconversion purposes. He said he planned to ask the Commons to pass these supplementary estimates Friday and to vote part of the main 1947-48 estimates so that the government may have money on hand to carry on its normal business after the end of this month.

IT WAS LEARNED that the presentation of the supplementary estimates did not lessen the prospects of the current year ending with a surplus of revenues over expenditures of between $200,000,000 and $300,000,000.

Expenditures, including some or possibly all of those provided for in the supplementary estimates, have been running well behind revenues. What Parliament will be asked to do now is to authorize expenditures made over and above those authorized in the estimates passed at the last session.

Plan to Electrify Farms in South

CALGARY, March 26.—(CP)—

The electrification of some 140 farms between Calgary and Cochrane on the south side of the Bow River is now being negotiated by a committee of the farmers and the Calgary Power Company. If agreement is reached soon, work on the project will probably begin by the end of April and the whole project will probably be completed by Christmas, that is, if material on order is delivered as promised.

Say Shipping Jam Strangles Alaska

SEATTLE, March 27.—(AP)—William J. Wagner, Alaska businessman and general manager of the Alaska Broadcasting Company, said yesterday that "unless something is done immediately to relieve the present freight jam of Alaska shipments out of Seattle, Alaska will be strangled economically for the entire year."

WAGNER ISSUED a statement after conferences here with both Seattle and Alaska businessmen and contractors.

The whole water and rail transportation system to and within Alaska is entirely bogged down without relief in sight to save this season's business," he said. "An ordinary shipper has little chance of getting a shipment aboard a boat in Seattle because of the present jam within less than one or two months."

A combination of factors were cited by Wagner as responsible for the jam. He said these were long-term unsatisfactory shipping conditions and last summer's maritime strike.

"On top of this," Wagner continued, "the present Russian unrest is most likely the reason the government is expanding its building plan by millions of dollars, thereby adding enormous tonnage that must be moved to Alaska."

Call Dead on Telephone? Maybe, Says Spiritualist

BY JACK SMITH

LONDON, March 27.—(AP)—The day may be near, a leading psychic researcher said today, when you can pick up a telephone and call the dead in the spirit world.

The spirits of Alexander Graham Bell and Guglielmo Marconi have been telling him how, said John L. Williamson, founder and past president of the Society of Metaphysicians.

Williamson, who gets his information through living mediums now, said Bell and Marconi seem tremendously excited about the idea and have poured across some 100,000 words of technical data.

"If we can succeed . . . there is no reason why anyone cannot have a 'spirit' telephone costing no more than five pounds ($20)," he said.

That, said Williamson, would revolutionize the seance.

A good many spiritualists agree with Williamson's thesis that human mediums can't really be depended upon. Most of them unintentionally garble messages from the other world, the spiritualists say.

Williamson's research is backed by the society, which has membership in many walks of life. His principal associate is Ernest Smith. Both were radio instructors in the RAF during the war. They sold their homes to finance the purchase of the Hastings centre.

Sask. to Welcome Ottawa Labor Plan

REGINA, March 27.—(CP)—Premier Douglas of Saskatchewan said in the Legislature yesterday that the CCF government would welcome a federal labor code, but he could not say what provincial powers would be given to the Dominion until the legislation was passed.

DURING RESUMED discussion of proposed amendments to the Saskatchewan Trade Union Act, Mr. Douglas said copies of a draft labor bill of the Commons was being circulated to provincial labor ministers and labor organizations.

The document was confidential and its details could not be discussed. Second reading was given an hours-of-work bill providing for a 44-hour week and a basic eight-hour day. Agricultural workers would be among the few classifications excluded from the rulings of the bill.

Psychiatric Service

An Edmonton branch of the Canadian Legion urges that the provincial and federal governments establish in each Canadian city a psychiatric ward in connection with some hospital, where the mentally ill may receive treatment.

This is a proposal that should receive warm support from the Canadian people. Many hospitals throughout the country do maintain psychiatric wards, but these are largely for the use of patients under observation. They are occupied mostly by persons who will either be committed later to an asylum or discharged as sane.

The emphasis in this suggestion should be placed on the word "treatment," for it is treatment for the insane that is lacking in most institutions.

To say this is not to endorse criticism that has been levelled against mental hospitals in Alberta. It is our information that these institutions compare favorably with most in Canada, and indeed are head and shoulders above many of them.

But the weakness of state-operated mental hospitals, and shared in varying degrees by all of them, is that there is little opportunity to give adequate treatment to the mentally ill. To a large extent, patients in these places get no more than custodial care. In many institutions, such as those of Alberta, this custodial care is sympathetic and kindly. In some other places it has been shown to be a public disgrace.

If Canada is to grapple in a civilized manner with the problem of the insane, such custodial care is not nearly enough. Intelligent and individual treatment must be given.

That is why the suggestion of the Canadian Legion is timely and praiseworthy. For it calls specifically for treatment for the insane, not merely for a comfortable place in which to keep them out of harm's way.

Doesn't Solve the Problem

Any change of policy that promises to encourage the building of more houses is to be approved for what it is worth, and will be welcomed with hope until the results are known.

Starting with April, any person who puts up an apartment building containing four or more dwelling units will be allowed to calculate depreciation at double the present rate when he makes out his income tax return. No doubt that will induce some construction which would not otherwise take place; how much, will only be known later.

But there is not much in this scheme for house-hunters to cheer for if, as stated, the apartments so provided will rent for $70 per month or any sum approaching that figure. Nine out of ten families who need places to live in are not interested in $70 suites—nor $60 suites, nor $50 suites. They can't pay any such rentals. Therefore the housing "problem" will not be solved by creating any number of such apartments.

Perhaps there is a still unfulfilled demand for apartments of that type, and if this is met the new departure in policy will be justified.

But this is not a possible solution to the problem of how to provide houses for the masses of those who need them—who do not, on the average, get more than from $100 to $150 per month as wages or salaries, if the average is even that high. An apartment costing $50 a month or more does not mean anything in reason to a man getting less than $250 per month.

At present cost of construction houses cannot be built to rent at $30 per month or less. This is stated as a fact by contractors and others in position to know. The only practical way yet suggested to bridge the gap between construction costs and the rent-paying ability of the average house-hunter is to pay a building subsidy that will give the builder back a substantial part of his investment.

The Frontiersmen

An investiture at the Victoria Armory the other evening brings home the fact that the Legion of Frontiersmen has reached an age in Alberta sufficient to assure that its roots are now deep; its roots in Canada, indeed, since the Canadian Headquarters are in Edmonton, and its commandant Colonel Louis Scott, OBE, DCM.

On that evening His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor conferred the Legion's long service medal, known as the Canadian Division Medal, on twelve Frontiersmen who have earned the distinction in its ranks.

The Legion was founded in England about the South African war period, and has "commands" in all corners of the Commonwealth. It was required of recruits that they should be able to shoot straight, cook their own meals, ride a horse, and have had experience (not necessarily with the armed forces) as frontiersmen, as the name implies.

Many of the men of Canada's Legion have service on frontiers far removed from this country, but it is clear that most of the Canadian Frontiersmen of the future will be drawn from those now serving their apprenticeship on our newest frontier in the north.

Start All Over Again?

General Marshall proposed at the Moscow conference that the Allies go back and start from the beginning to formulate a peace treaty with Germany.

This implies that the General has abandoned hope—if he ever had any hope—that the present conference will draft such a treaty. The prospect of this being done was far from bright when the conferees met and it has grown steadily dimmer ever since. Nothing less than a complete reversal of course on the part of Russia would break the deadlock now existing.

Wherefore General Marshall proposes that all the nations which declared war against the Axis powers hold a conference of their own, thresh out the whole question, and that the foreign ministers then do the drafting in the light of recommendations forwarded from this gathering.

This is the procedure which to many people seemed advisable when the treaty question first arose. Events have shown that it is also the only course that offers any promise of success. And further, the only course which would not threaten a lasting cleavage among the Allies.

What General Marshall suggests would satisfy the demands which Canada and other secondary Allied states have made for a voice in shaping the terms of the treaty. No other plan has been adopted, or even conditionally approved, which would satisfy these obviously reasonable demands.

HOW TO TORTURE YOUR WIFE

by Webster

Truman's Wrong Road

BY ELMORE PHILPOTT

The most serious charge against President Truman's proposals to take over Greece and Turkey as outposts of American power is that they have exploded in the very vitals of the United Nations peace ship.

It would be an exaggeration to say that the American proposals have scuttled the United Nations vessel. But it is beyond dispute that they have set an extremely dangerous precedent.

They are clearly inconsistent with the letter of the United Nations Charter. They are even more contrary to its general spirit.

That is why such gloom was reported from the headquarters of the United Nations when the Truman proposals were made. No student of the history of the dismembered thirteenth century to see the striking similarity between this single-handed proposal and that "every man for himself" scramble that began in the years before the recent war.

THE UNITED NATIONS Charter clearly provides for the setting up of regional defense zones in which specified nations have not only the right but the duty to help defend.

There could be no objection to allocation of Turkey to the United States as part of legitimate defence if that had been done by the United Nations as part of a world stabilization agreement.

But for the United States simply to try to muscle in, thousands of miles from home, undermines the moral authority of the United Nations.

Right down at bedrock, the foundation of the United Nations is a moral authority. It is the pledge of the peoples of the member nations to come to the aid of any nation attacked by any of the nations.

It is the duty of all loyal members of the United Nations to take steps to protect any nation which says that it is threatened by such an attack. For weeks past, a United Nations commission has been investigating conditions in Greece. Yet, before that commission has completed its work much less presented its report—President Truman denounces his bombshell. Whatever else this does, it blasts all hope of the commission making an acceptable report. Its whole aim has been prejudiced.

BY ACTING OUTSIDE the United States Charter Mr. Truman has set a bad example. If any big power can simply move into any other country—and on the say-so of government—anything but democratic—then other big powers can move into other areas on the same basis.

What is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander. What is all right for Truman is all right for Stalin.

If the U.S. can move into Greece and Turkey in 1947, can Russia move into Persia in 1948? Into Italy in 1949? Into Spain, Mexico, China?

MOREOVER BY MOVING into Greece and Turkey the United States risks losing far more than she stands to gain, even on the military balance sheet. For if the United States destroys the moral foundation on which the United Nations organization has been built she cannot hope to get the military support of the peoples of other countries than her own in any war arising out of the unilateral action.

If Russia were to attack Greece or Turkey, I am certain that all honorable peoples of the democratic nations would honor their bonds and come to the help of the country attacked. But they would by no means do so if the whole moral position had been previously undermined by high-handed and provocative action, contrary to the letter and spirit of Article 52 of the Charter.

THERE IS NOTHING legitimate and justifiable in what Mr. Truman proposes to do in and for Greece and Turkey that could not have been better done through UN channels.

There is much in what he proposes that cannot be justified under the UN Charter, which is clearly by contrary to its basis and purpose. The Truman move takes the world much closer to war. It is the wrong road. The right road could be summed up: "The UN, the whole UN, and nothing but the UN."

Answering a Correspondent

BY DOROTHY THOMPSON

I have an anonymous communication from a person in California who writes:

Russia cannot collect cash in Germany for even a part of the war damage Germany inflicted. Therefore, her demand for labor in lieu of cash is justifiable, and only can otherwise be considered by a biased and distorted mind.

Would you be so concerned if the tables were reversed and those horrid bolsheviks were made to work (at forced labor)?

The correspondent does not give his name or address, but his letter deserves a public reply.

Answer to direct question: should be exactly as concerned if "the tables were reversed."

I am concerned in principle. The lack of principle in practically every measure THOMPSON designed or taken for the peace concerns me most of all.

WHEN WARS ARE lost it is customary for the victors to charge reparations against the losers. When the loser is the aggressor, reparations are just. But justice also demands that reparations should be justly distributed among the defeated people. Justice, as opposed to revenge, cannot be abrogated because we are dealing with a defeated enemy or an enemy who has violated what we consider justice. The judge does not accept the code of the criminal he condemns. If he did, there would be no judgment.

Following this war, the victors have collected reparations by force against individuals. Property has been taken from some persons and not from others, or from the community as a whole.

But of all reparations taken, the worst is the taking of men in slavery.

These have, in fact, been taken regardless of their individual behavior in relation to Nazism. The choice has been made according to age, health, working capacity, and whether—as prisoners—they were in the hands of the slave owners. These men, two years after the war, are separated from their families, denied the most primary human rights and needs, kept in penal camps, and maintained on bare subsistence or falling beneath it, allowed to perish.

To this, one has got to say either a yes or a no.

I DO NOT SAY NO out of "pity for the Germans."

I say no because I am an American and believe in American principles.

The Soviet Union not only has taken such slave labor from Germany and German satellites who committed aggression against her. When she was the aggressor—in Poland, the Baltic states and Finland, she treated the defeated nations the same way.

From Poland she removed to slave-labor penal camps no less than 1,500,000 civilians and prisoners of war. She worked them under conditions no different from those of German penal camps, except that there were no gas chambers and sanitary conditions were worse.

These are facts, for which an immense amount of sworn evidence exists, taken from the testimony of those repatriated when Russia became a Polish "ally."

The crime of slavery was charged against the representatives of the German state in Nuremberg.

A crime is either a crime or not a crime. If it is a crime, it is a crime by whomever committed. The Nuremberg indictment did not permit arguments of extenuating circumstances. It was described as the beginning of a new international law. But if the prosecutors indulge in the crimes of which they indicted the defendants, no law is established and the avowed purpose of the trial fails.

Human slavery prejudices the lives of free workers everywhere. "A nation cannot endure half slave and half free," said Lincoln. If Lincoln was right, it must be emphatically rejected that any good can accrue to Russian workers by the presence in their country of 5,000,000 imported slaves. Nor can any good accrue to world prosperity. Free and well-paid workers cannot compete against wageless subsistence workers. If I am wrong, ask William Green or Philip Murray.

That the same persons who believe that a prosperous America depends on mass purchasing power can argue that the world economy is aided by depriving 70,000,000 Germans, 80,000,000 Japanese and some 40,000,000 German satellites of all purchasing power, is as acrobatics of logic I am unable to follow.

THE USE OF SLAVE labor by a state claiming to be the Mecca of the "workers of the world" blows that claim into thin air.

The incompatibility of the Soviets appealing in Germany for their "workers' state" while they draft German workers into slavery is recognizable only by the servile.

It is my correspondent, I submit, whose mind is distorted. He should re-examine the terrible implications of what he advocates, not for the sake of the Germans, but for his own sake, and the sake of his children.

Not All Can Teach

Lethbridge Herald

A lot of people would like to be newspapermen. They think there's glamor about it. But not all who start out in the newspaper life make good at it. To be a good reporter requires a "nose for news". If a person hasn't got the nose for news it matters little how good his academic standing, he'll never be a top-flight newspaperman.

It's the same with teaching. Some teachers can impart knowledge, can get along with children and really enjoy the work.

There are others with a high professional standing who would not make good teachers in a thousand years. Just as there are lawyers and doctors who are tops in their profession and others who never make more than a mediocre job of it.

Horse That Halts

Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph

Incidentally, whatever Canada's motives for withdrawing (her army from Europe) may have been, the fact that she did so may help to explain the unsatisfactory place reserved for her at the peace table. There is an old saying of the race tracks: "They pay off at the finishing post." Nor is anything paid on a horse that drops out of the race before the finish no matter how spectacularly it may have run for part of the way.

Some authorities say that suicide is more prevalent among educated than illiterate groups.

Trained Reserves

BY HARPER PROWSE, M.L.A.

I doubt if there is anyone in Canada who thinks that our present defence forces are large enough to be of any practical value should this country be attacked. But they are more than just a trained force—they are a cadre of trained men whose task would be to provide the trained backbone and the organizations about which an expanded force could be built should the need arise. They could be augmented on very short notice by an additional 50,000 men now in the reserve units.

But the prospect is that should war come again it will be preceded by an atomic barrage of our industrial, communication, and population centres. However, this would have to be followed up by an orthodox occupation before conquest could be completed. With our widely dispersed industry and population it is doubtful if the atomic barrage would be able to knock us out completely—especially if our people had the self-control and discipline necessary to enable them to avoid complete panic. Therefore we need an orthodox air force and army which could counter-attack any enemy occupation force before they could secure a bridgehead.

I AM CONVINCED that we cannot afford to keep a full-sized army standing around for years because there is a remote and hypothetical possibility that we may be attacked. At the same time I believe that every citizen should be aware of our vulnerability.

The answer to our problem lies, I now believe, in the vast expansion of our reserve. At the moment our problem is not to provide forces to be sent out of the country, which has been the big objection to mobilization and conscription in the past—our present problem is how to be prepared to defend our own soil against invasion. This is something which should be drummed home.

The chief trouble with our reserve force at the moment is that, because there is no immediate or obvious threat of war, it is difficult to get people to join the reserve. And because of the voluntary nature of the service sufficient emphasis cannot be placed either on the duty of the citizen to be prepared to defend the country, nor can it be run on a basis which will permit the inculcation of the necessary standard of discipline into those who have joined.

The solution lies in the development in Canada of a reserve force raised and trained on the same basis as the Home Guard was organized in Britain during the war. Every able bodied citizen should be required to register for service and would be posted to a local unit with which he would train. Training periods of one or two hours each week would probably be sufficient. The organization and instruction of these units would be provided by the permanent force. I see no reason why members of this reserve should be paid for their services as such service should be considered a normal duty of citizenship.

MEMBERS WOULD be assembled by age groups and by physical ratings so that units would contain men of the same age group and physical condition. This would facilitate mobilization and development should the necessity arise. It would permit us to have ready an effective force to meet any emergency without imposing any great strain on our taxpayers and without keeping out of productive employment large numbers of young and able men.

At a time when America and Britain are retaining conscription for full-time service in the forces when world conditions seem to demand full preparedness, when Canada is having difficulty maintaining her national prestige in international affairs, something like this is necessary. And, until the day comes when international understanding and good will have developed to the point where complete disarmament is possible, we cannot afford to neglect our defences.

IN DEFENCE

Editor, Bulletin—Regarding an article in your paper concerning wartime employees. Did it ever occur to some people that not every fellow could have been in the armed forces such as those who have been rejected and therefore are wartime employees. I should like to state these fellows are real citizens with families and should be worthy of a good job also. And that these are the fellows who stayed home to keep the wheels rolling through no fault of their own and did a good job of it.

King to Holiday In Southern U.S.

OTTAWA, March 27 (CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King plans to take a vacation in the southern United States during the parliamentary Easter recess which opens April 2 and lasts until April 14, parliamentary circles said yesterday. These sources said that the Prime Minister's trip was prompted by a recent heavy cold which confined him to home for three weeks and veered on pneumonia and would be made to effect a "complete recovery" from that illness.

Contest Will Of Former Alix Man

VANCOUVER, March 27 (CP)—The torn will of the late George Gordon Norris, previously approved for probate by the Supreme Court of British Columbia, came before the court of appeal here yesterday.

NORRIS, A LAWYER, came from England to Alix, Alta. in 1908 and to Vancouver in 1929. He died in 1942 leaving the bulk of a $20,000 estate to a Vancouver woman with whom he had lived for 33 years.

The will, made in 1927, was subsequently torn but the pieces were saved.

The widow, who had remained in England, claimed Norris revoked the will by tearing it. The supreme court ruled the will had been torn "unintentionally" or "in a moment of mental confusion with no thought of revoking it."

George Goodwin Eaton of Calgary, a nephew of Norris, is challenging the will.

DIAMONDS THAT FELL FROM SKY

Small diamonds have been discovered in meteorites both of stone and iron. Diamonds have been found in a meteorite that fell in Russia on September 22, 1866; also in a meteorite stone at Carcote, in Chile; and in an iron meteorite discovered at Devil Canyon, Arizona, and much of the meteorite iron in Arizona contains diamonds.

The fact that diamond crystals have often been discovered in meteorites which have fallen to earth led to the suggestion that all diamonds came from the skies, but we know this is not so. The diamonds that are found in various parts of the world, often deep in the ground, are generally believed to be due to carbon in the earth's crust which was dissolved under enormous heat and pressure, and then crystallized.

Why Does Hair Grow Gray?

Some of the cells of the hair contain a pigment (coloring matter). As human bodies grow old, most of them lose the power to make new pigment, so that the hairs become colorless. Some people lose the power to make the pigment when they are still quite young; others do not grow gray until they have reached a very advanced age.

General health and good care of the hair may aid in keeping the color. However, loss of hair pigment runs in families, and many physicians believe that it is a hereditary trait.

The condition of the nervous system has an effect upon the hair. Persons under a serious nervous strain have been known to grow gray quickly. We hear stories of people who turned white in a single night, because of shock, or fright or fear. Probably these stories are exaggerations; yet it is true that men and women under stress have become white-haired in a few months.

Scientists have studied for years.

Special Houses For Blind Vets

VANCOUVER, March 27 (CP)—Believed to be the only project of its kind in Canada, specially-designed houses for paralyzed and blind veterans are under construction here by student builders.

Veterans learning their craft under Canadian Vocational Training have completed two houses, two more are under construction and options are available on 12 more lots. The homes are built with ramps for wheel chairs and wide halls and special railing for veterans who are blind, paralyzed or suffer double amputations.

By William E. McKenney

During the masters individual tournament I asked several of the contestants if they would stick more or less to the book in their bidding because they play with so many different partners in the event. They all indignantly replied, "What book?"

Of course an expert feels that he is an authority unto himself, but nevertheless they all do bid pretty much the same. If there is a bid once in while that seems unorthodox, there is usually sound reasoning behind it.

In today's hand, for example, South's opening bid was made on a three-card suit. He was simply laying the groundwork for a possible no trump contract in case his partner could not bid hearts or spades.

Miss Ruth Sherman of New York sat North. Her hand was not strong enough to bid three diamonds and she did not want to show weakness with a bid of one no trump—so she elected to bid one heart, also on a three-card suit. Then of course they soon got to four hearts, which they made with the following line of play.

Miss Sherman won the opening spade lead in dummy with the king and led a small heart. West played low and the nine-spot held the trick when East refused to take the ace. Dummy's other high spade was cashed and a spade ruffed by declarer with the deuce of hearts.

The king and then the ace of diamonds were cashed, and dummy's last spade ruffed with the queen of hearts. East over-ruffed with the ace, cashed the queen of diamonds and returned the small club which was won in dummy with the ace. Miss Sherman cashed the king of clubs and ruffed her last club in dummy. She conceded a trump trick to the king and made four-odd.

Seek Extension Boxcar Control

OTTAWA, March 27 (CP)—A shortage of the federal transport controller will end April 1 but extension of three wartime orders aimed at stretching scarce freight-car facilities is being sought. Transport Minister Chevier announced in the Commons yesterday.

The orders provide:

1. That shippers must load to the maximum of freight-car capacity.

2. INCREASED penalties for delays by shippers and consignees over the 48-hour free time for demurrage on box, gondola and hopper cars.

3. Reduction in the demurrage limit on refrigerator cars from 48 to 36 hours, with increased penalties.

These provisions now are in effect but would expire April 1, Mr. Chevier said, with the lapsing of a large number of government controls. The transport controller's authority is not among those to be continued under the federal control-extension program now before Parliament.

Theatre Prices May Be Raised

TORONTO, March 27 (CP)—J. J. Fitzgibbon, president of Famous Players Corporation last night confirmed a Vancouver statement that admission price increases were being considered for theatres in the chain. He added that increases would be slight and might vary in various parts of the country. He blamed increased costs of production and operation as reason for the rise and said that generally, theatre admission prices in Canada were lower than anywhere else.

Gets Three Years For Mailing Nitro

The explosives—two bottles containing nitro-glycerine and detonating caps—allegedly were sent through the mail from Calgary to Moose Jaw last November. The judge told Lemieux his offence might have resulted in the death of persons and destruction of property.

Kimberley Squares Series With Calgary

SPORTS

HAROLD DEAN, Sports Editor

KIMBERLEY DYNAMITERS MAY BE stronger than they are generally rated, but most Alberta hockey fans will be more inclined to write off last night's result at Calgary as just another case of the law of averages catching up to the Stampedeers.

The 5-4 loss to Kimberley was the first Stampedeers had sustained since Flyers defeated them 7-3 at the arena here Feb. 24, and in the meantime Jack Arbour's club had marked up 10 straight victories, eight of them since the playoffs began.

After Jan. 15, on which date Calgary was beaten here 3-2, Stampedeers won seven straight before dropping a 4-1 decision to Lethbridge Feb. 7, on the Maple Leafs' home ice. They lost to Flyers 1-0 the next night at Calgary, but from that date (Feb. 8) to the end of the schedule their only defeat was the 7-3 one here out of six more starts. Out of their last 24 games, Stampedeers have won 20, a record which really adds up to something.

NHL Back to Overtime

NHL HEADQUARTERS STAFF did considerable shadow boxing last fall endeavoring to prove that overtime was neither desirable nor necessary, and even dug into the old statistics barrel trying to show how the few decisions in other years didn't justify extra sessions.

It is noted, however, that overtime has been decreed for the current playoffs and if there hadn't been any last night it can be taken for granted the bulk of the customers at Maple Leaf Gardens would have gone home dissatisfied. Ties just don't seem to fit in with hockey, a game in which speed has been successfully blended with skill.

The fact that Ralph Almas was in the net for Detroit no doubt had many western fans leaning toward a Red Wing victory. Ralph did a bang-up job for Saskatoon Elks last season and so did Pat Lundy, who has done a lot of good work for the Red Wings this year in addition to finishing well up in the scoring.

Looks Like Coleman Now

COLEMAN'S 6-2 WIN OVER Notre Dame Hounds at Vernon Wednesday night makes the Edmonton New Method club, Alberta champions, look even better than before. And results of the series to date indicates the final would have been little more than a canter for Louis Holmes' team.

But even if Hounds don't win, a repetition of what happened in Saskatchewan this season, is not likely to occur again. With the exception of two members, the Notre Dame club now at Vernon went through the regular season intact as an entry in the Saskatchewan Junior League.

That doesn't look like a fair deal to the genuine intermediate clubs in that province, many of whom struggled along in more or less make-shift league schedules during the winter.

Chances are that Phil Horn will have a difficult time side-stepping the presidency of the City Junior Baseball League when the annual meeting is held on April 8. The success which the junior ball loop experienced under his guidance last season just about makes it unanimous for Phil.

Secretary Ernie Smellan advises that the Edmonton Athletic Club is having a get-together for past members and to honor junior, juvenile and midget players at the Institute of Applied Arts building on Friday night starting at 8 o'clock.

NY Rangers to Hold Puck School in April

NEW YORK, March 27, (AP)—Seeking to get a head start for the next National Hockey League season, New York Rangers will open a spring training camp in April at Winnipeg to give 60 to 70 amateur prospects the once-over.

Manager Frank Boucher will supervise the camp aided by the coaches of three Ranger farms, Lynn Patrick of New Haven, Muzz Patrick of St. Paul, Freddy McCallie of New York's Rovers, and Ranger captain Neil Colville.

THE CAMP will be open from April 10 to 20. The Rangers always have held rookie tryouts in the fall and this is their first venture, and perhaps the first in the big leagues, in spring trials.

Meanwhile Boucher planned to leave here shortly for a swing at the minor leagues to watch Ranger teams in action in the various playoffs now going on. His own team finished fifth and missed the NHL playoffs.

BEFORE CONCLUDING his press conference yesterday Boucher

B.C. Champions Defeat Stampede By 5-4 Score

CALGARY, March 27, (CP)

—Roaring back late in the third period after seeing their own early margin wiped out by a Stampede rally, Kimberley Dynamiters last night got back into the fight for a berth in the Western Canada Senior Hockey final by beating the Calgary Cowboys 5-4, before 5,158 paying customers here.

The victory of the British Columbian led the best-of-seven series at one game each.

LLOYD SANDERSON and Benny Redsky paced the Kimberley attack as they counted three goals and three assists between them, pairing up for the payoff counter three minutes from the end when Sanderson beat goalie Russ Dertell with a hard shot from a faceoff near the Calgary net. Veterans Harry Brown and Wilson got the other dynamiter tallies.

With Calgary's first string line of Hunter, Brownridge and Grant in the contest, it was Bunny Dame and Doug Cairns who set the scoring pace, the former getting two goals and Cairns one. Defenceman Art Shookist scored the other.

STAMPEDERS, WHO showed little of their usual fast and clever play until midway through the first period, came through the first session all even at 1-1 only through the fine work of Dertell who made seven stops in the session, many of them brilliantly, while Jackie Nash at the other end was called upon to block only two drives at the goal.

Dynamiters went ahead 3-1 in the second by continuing their close checking and forceful attack, before the Calgarys hit full stride, fought back with a sustained power play and tied the count at 3-3 by the end of the period.

Going into the third frame Stampede maintained the dizzy pace and when Doug Cairns counted midway through the session it looked as though the club was home free except that Dynamiters didn't believe it.

THE BC CHAMPS, gathering their forces for renewed attacks, turned the game into one of the hardest fought and speediest duels seen this season while Stampede tried to protect their lead but cased up too soon. Brown tied the score when he split the defence after taking a blue-line pass and Sanderson won the game three minutes from the end before the Calgarys belatedly uncovered a frenzied power play, sending six men into the attack after pulling Dertell out of the net.

THIRD PERIOD: 7—Calgary, Dame, Desmarais 9:22; 8—Kimberley, Brown (Cairns) 13:44; 9—Kimberley, Sanderson (Redsky) 17:32. Penalties—none.

Boxing Color "Ban" Reaches Commons

LONDON, March 27 (AP)—The controversy over a racial "ban" in British boxing reached the house of commons Wednesday with a statement from colonial secretary Creech Jones that it was "quite unjustified" and that he would attempt to have it eliminated.

Negro boxers may fight for British Empire championships, but are barred by the British board of boxing control from competing for British National titles which are separate from Empire crowns.

Will Raise Age Limit

Junior Ball League To Have Five Clubs

Five teams are expected to operate in the City Junior Baseball League this coming season. At least that appeared to be the situation at a preliminary meeting held under the chairmanship of President Phil Horn on Wednesday night.

CNR (Calder), Maple Leaf, Canadian and South Side Athletic clubs already are certain starters and the EAC is expected to be the fifth club. Arrows, usually a member of the junior circuit, will not be represented this year.

IT IS PLANNED to raise the age limit to 21 at June 1 and it was suggested that each club also sponsor a juvenile team in order that a league could be made possible.

No decision has been made regarding game nights, but Mondays, Wednesdays, Fridays and Sundays worked out well in 1946 and probably will be adopted again this season.

Formal organization meeting for the junior league has been set for Tuesday, April 8 and the slate of officers will be named at that time.

Coleman Deadlocks Intermediate Final

VERNON, B.C., March 27, (CP)—Coleman, Alta., Grands evened up the best-of-five Western Canada intermediate finals at two games apiece when they defeated Notre Dame Hounds 6-2 before 2,400 fans here last night.

Taking a 4-2 lead in the opening chapter, Coleman clinched the game with two more counters in the final stanza.

The Grands played a good offensive and defensive game. Their passing plays were clicking smartly and they put up a hard-checking defense to protect their two goal lead after the first period.

TED COLLINS and Jimmy Joyce sniped two apiece for the winners with the other two goals going to Bill Moez and Rich Antonenko.

Bert Elliott and Roy Richardson lit the red lamp for the Hounds. Buzz Mellor showed some fancy slick-handling in the first period as he laid over a pass to Bert Elliott for the opening goal. With the Hounds a man short, Ted Collins tied up the game for Coleman. Two break-aways put Coleman in the lead 3-1 on goals by Rich Antonenko and Jimmy Joyce.

Notre Dame cut the lead when Roy Richardson polished off a double relay from Jim Hanson and Frank Hermann. Ted Collins got it back by scoring his second goal of the period on a nice combination play with Jimmy Joyce and Rich Antonenko.

BOTH TEAMS WENT scoreless in the second session as the Grands protected their two goal lead. The Hounds couldn't get a chance to make their passing plays and both two-tenders were busy handling long shots.

The final frame was marred by a number of cheap penalties to the Wilcox, Sask., Collegians. With Notre Dame two men short, Coleman whipped in for two more markers off the sticks of Bill Moez and Jimmy Joyce. With 30 seconds left to play, Roy Richardson of Notre Dame was given a 10-minute misconduct penalty for arguing with the referee.

NOTRE DAME—Huck, Dorndorfer, McKay, Mellor, Hryciuk, Elliott, Subbs, Hermann, Hanson, McLeod, Richardson, Mullali, Francis, Booth, Starzak, Woltercraft.

COLEMAN—Pow, Joyce, Kwanis, Fraser, Kryczka, Kovack, Subbs, Beigun, Moez, Anderson, Antonenko, Pavius, Collins.

OFFICIALS—G. Sparrow, W. Sigaleit. FIRST PERIOD: 1—Notre Dame, Elliott (Mellor) 2:48; 2—Coleman, Collins 5:08; 3—Coleman, Antonenko (Anderson) 9:16; 4—Coleman, Joyce (Pavius) 13:03; 5—Notre Dame, Richardson (Hanson, Hermann) 14:03; 6—Coleman, Collins (Joyce, Antonenko) 18:09. Penalties—Richardson, Anderson, Hanson.

Howie Meeker Breaks Tie

Toronto Turns Back Detroit in Overtime

By William H. Dumsday

TORONTO, March 27, (CP)—Rookie Howie Meeker flashed across the Detroit goal last night and backhanded Toronto Maple Leafs to a 3-2 victory over the Red Wings after three minutes of overtime play in the first game of their best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final hockey series.

A crowd of 12,749 fans saw the game come to a sudden and dramatic close in the extra period, after watching the Wings pull even late in the regulation play.

AS THE CUSTOMERS settled back expecting a lengthy close checking duel, Kennedy backchecked a Wing in centre ice and raced toward the Detroit goal. He passed to Meeker, and the little twice-wounded war veteran skated across the goal mouth unmolested from the right side. His backhand shot fooled Ralph (Red) Almas, called into action in the Detroit nets because of an injury to their regular goalie, Harry Lumley.

The Wings will have a chance to pull even as the two national league clubs meet here in the second series tilt Saturday night. Twelve penalties were handed out by referee Bill Chadwick in the first two periods as the game at times threatened to develop into a brawl but the boys steadied out and the cooler was empty in the third and overtime sessions.

ROY CONACHER and Pete Horek fired Detroit's goals and the first two Toronto markers went to Vic Lynn and Nick Metz. Almas could not be blamed for the close defeat, handling himself nicely in the nets and blocking 30 shots against 21 for Turk Broda.

The teams finished the second period tied at 1-1 after a scoreless opening session. Leafs seemed headed for victory when Nick Metz poked a shot past the pads of Almas half way through the more than three minutes regulation play remaining. Horek batted home a pass dumped forward by Young Al Dewsbury.

His physician said he suffered a cerebral hemorrhage and had been in hospital since late Tuesday.

Evers played second base for Chicago Cubs from 1902 to 1913 and during this period the team's infield combination became a by-word. Evers never weighed more than 130 pounds during his playing career.

In April of last year, Evers was named to baseball's hall of fame at Cooperstown, N. Y., on a list of 11 oldtime players which also included shortstop Joe Tinker now living in Orlando, Fla., and first baseman Frank Chance, who died in 1924.

DETROIT—Almas; Quackenbush, Stewart, Abel; Horek, Lindsay, Subbs. SECOND PERIOD: 1—Detroit, R. Conacher (Bruneteau) 3:21; 2—Toronto, Lynn (Kennedy) 7:01. Penalties Stewart, Lynn, Thomson, Taylor, Lindsay, Barinko, Lundy, Kennedy, Abel.

THIRD PERIOD: 3—Toronto, N. Metz (Stewart, Barinko) 10:29; 4—Detroit, Horek (Lindsay, Dewsbury) 16:44. Penalties—none.

OVERTIME PERIOD: 5—Toronto, Meeker (Kennedy) 3:04. Penalties—none.

Windsor Plans New Curling Rink

WINDSOR, Ont., March 27, (CP)—If just plain enthusiasm is any guarantee, there'll be a Windsor Curling Club next winter—for the first time in more than 30 years.

One snag may be the purchase of the required 128 pairs of stones—a big, single order because the granite "rocks" are made by only one concern in the world (The Kay Curling Company of Scotland).

BUT NATE CORNWALL, No. 1 enthusiast among 20 who plan a $135,000 club for 1947-48, is optimistic even about that problem. "I think we'll get the 'rocks' all right," he smiled.

Windsor has been without a curling club since 1915 when fire destroyed a midtown building which housed one of the oldest curling organizations in Ontario. Since then, a handful of "homeless" never-say-die curlers have played in scores of barns throughout the country.

NOW THE 20 originators of the long-delayed program are confident the project is set to snowball into a full-scale curling revival here.

The new club will be a "community" centre, with a dining room, auditorium, lounges and facilities for the meetings of various organizations. The proposed ice surface, 96 feet by 160 feet, will contain eight rinks.

Saskatoon Elks To Drop Franchise

SASKATOON, March 27, (CP)—Because of heavy financial losses this year, Saskatoon Elks will not enter the Western Canada Senior Hockey League next season and their franchise will be turned over to some other Saskatoon club as yet unknown.

The announcement was made last night after a meeting of the Elks hockey committee. Directors of the Saskatoon arena will meet Thursday night to discuss the situation.

Meeker (Kennedy) 3:04. Penalties—none.

Braves "Dark Horse" Of National League

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., March 27, (CP)—Billy Southworth's Boston Braves, 75 per cent improved over last year's fourth-place club, are the dark horse team of the National League and a definite factor in the pennant race.

Every place a touring baseball writer goes, the warning is heard "watch out for those Braves".

This up-and-coming organization, headed by energetic President Lou Perini, has the cash and the determination to make something of the Braves. The records say they are succeeding.

GIVEN A LITTLE more pitching strength and a dash of luck, the Braves could be a contender. Even as they stand today they figure a sure shot for the first division, a distant goal a few years ago.

Earl Torgeson, bespectacled rookie first baseman from Seattle, is a good example of the new Braves spirit. On the advice of their own scouts and word from Southworth that the Cardinals also were "high" on the boy, the Boston owners spent $75,000 and assigned five players to the Pacific Coast League club.

Right now, Torgy is the Varsity first sacker because Ray Sanders will be out for most of the season as a result of last year's broken arm.

NOBODY KNOWS if Torgeson can make the grade although general manager John Quinn thinks

The Eagles move south to open the league playoffs against Los Angeles Monarchs, southern division winners, Saturday.

Hockey Title Won By King Edward

King Edward defeated Eastwood 3-1 to capture the grade 7 and 8 public school championship at a hockey festival at the arena, which also saw six elementary school teams in action last night.

Although there was nothing at stake in the elementary contests, as Norwood had already won the grades 5 and 6 championship, a crowd of more than 2,000 students and parents yelled themselves hoarse as the youngsters battled for goals.

HODGSON led the King Edward attack with three goals, with Anderson, McGill and McAvoy supplying the assists. Eliniski counted for Eastwood, with Magee making the play.

King Edward took the opening game of the playoff 6-3 and at the conclusion of last night's encounter the winners were presented with crests by John Sandbrook, convener of intermediate hockey.

F. W. Wooton, convener of the elementary hockey section, acted as manager and the whole affair was run off smoothly. Harold Weismen was referee, Stan Morgan timer, and A. Stuart Bird, announcer.

In the opening match Norwood took H. A. Gray into camp 6-0, with Wilson, Goodall and Cowan doing the scoring. Bower and Ringhorn provided the winning edge as Queen Alexandra beat Eastwood 2-1. Ronaldson, on an assist from McGee, scored the only goal for the losers. In the third match North Edmonton edged out Ritchie 1-0, Baraluk counting on Gillis' pass.

CPR Lease Agreement Questioned at Probe

By John LeBlanc

OTTAWA, March 27, (CP)—Interlocking directorates of the CPR and a similar company from which it leases facilities at a rental of $1,234,000 a year came under scrutiny before the Board of Transport Commissioners yesterday at the rail freight-rate inquiry.

ALBERTA COUNSEL J. J. Frawley, claiming these payments might be reduced, sought information on how the CPR could have the directorate of the 682-mile Ontario and Quebec Railway Company fully manned with CPR officers while owning only 30 of the 20,000 outstanding shares of its stock.

The control question was left unanswered for the time being, but F. S. C. Evans, CPR general counsel and a director of the smaller company, expressed resentment at what he termed a suggestion that the CPR was merely transferring money from one pocket to another in the transaction.

Mr. Frawley brought the Ontario and Quebec Company situation under questioning during cross-examination of S. J. W. Liddy, assistant CPR controller. He wanted to know the basis for the yearly rental, which he said made up more than one-third of the amount paid yearly by the CPR for leases from other companies.

The Alberta counsel was informed the $1,234,795 covered interest at six per cent on its debentures, paid under a contract in perpetuity negotiated in 1884.

MR. FRAWLEY said this was "too much interest" in the light of the present money market, and then he read a list of Ontario and Quebec officers giving its president as W. M. Neal, CPR president.

Part of the money involved was coming from freight shippers, he said, and if it was found the amount could be reduced, it should be done.

"If this company is under CPR control, why are these high interest rates being maintained?" he asked.

Mr. Evans declared the money was being paid under a long-term contract, and it was "absurd" to suggest that "by some mysterious way, we could cut down the agreed interest being paid to outside stockholders."

In reply, Mr. Frawley called for a list of the "outside" shareholders, again asking how it was possible for a company holding only 30 shares to "control the fortunes of a company with outside holdings consisting of the difference between 50 and 20,000 shares."

MR. EVANS said he could give assurances that the CPR was not paying interests to "someone they can control." He added Mr. Frawley was suggesting the larger company was "covering up and paying money from one pocket into another."

"There is nothing improper," Mr. Frawley said, "in the suggestion that interest rates can be converted, as was done in the case of the Quebec Central Railway, a CPR subsidiary."

The question was dropped for the time being after Mr. Frawley had called once more for an explanation at some later time—on how the CPR could "control" the Ontario and Quebec railway on its holdings.

A federal land grant of 23,000,000 acres in the west, made to the CPR during its construction days, came under examination by Mr. Frawley. Mr. Liddy said the acreage still held by the company was marginal land and much of it was being given away.

He added no valuation on the granted lands was included in the "property investment" account used by the CPR as the basis for its rate of financial return.

sult of four years of war operation and that they feared competition from veterans, by W. J. Williams (Vet-Edmonton) and others.

Elmer E. Roper (CCF-Edmonton) said the Alberta Motor Transport Association, made up of truckers established in the province, denied any effort to create a monopoly. This organization was most anxious that public hearings be continued.

SINCE the minister was once a railway man, Mr. Wray said truckmen feared he would encourage the opening of trucking lines by railways.

Debate was interrupted by members who demanded that a vote be taken. "We are hearing the same arguments repeated over and over again," J. C. Landry (SC-Lethbridge) complained.

Danger that the CPR might create a monopoly was foreseen by Mr. Fallow who announced he was opposed to any such move and would fight against any railway forming such a monopoly. Up to the present the railway has 16 licenses.

The bill was given committee approval.

icies in Ottawa, by establishing a common policy.

"IT WILL BE recalled that when the Bloc was founded, it was known that Premier Duplessis had made its leaders the following offer: The Union Nationale would confine itself to provincial politics if the Bloc remained in the federal field and both groups could help each other."

Masse is running as an Independent in the March 31 by-election to elect a successor to jailed Communist Fred Rose. In his campaign speeches he has also referred to himself as an autonomist and anti-Communist candidate, supported by the Bloc Populaire party.

Maxime Raymond, national leader of the Bloc Populaire and member of the House of Commons for Beauharnois-Laprairie, has campaigned in favor of Masse.

THE PARTY has two members in both the Commons and the Quebec Legislature. Joseph Hamel (St. Maurice-Lafayette) is the other member of the federal house, while the Quebec members are J. Andre Laurendeau (Montreal-Laurier), provincial leader, and Albert Lemieux (Beauce).

LADY BACK IN ZOO: Mr. and Mrs. Ross Baker turned "Lady Civic" over to Toronto's Riverdale zoo yesterday after "babysitting" her for seven months. The 27-pound leopard was abandoned at birth by her mother and Mrs. Baker, seen with "Lady," agreed to take over. "Lady" lived in their home for five months, but when a meat diet was prescribed the Bakers decided she might be a little too rough and back to the zoo she went.

Appellate Court Orders New Trial

Appeal by Joseph A. Deagle, Edmonton, against conviction and two-years-less-one-day sentence imposed on him by Chief Justice W. R. Howson, on a charge of living off the avails of prostitution was allowed in a judgment handed down by Chief Justice Horace Harvey Thursday. The majority judgment ordered a new trial.

The majority judgment of the court agreed with the submission made by J. H. Ogilvie, counsel for the appellant, that a statement given to the police when apprehended on a liquor charge could not be admitted as evidence against him on the living off the avails charge.

Mr. Justice G. B. O'Connor, in a dissenting judgment, held that the statement was a voluntary one by the accused, and was properly admissible.

Concurring in Chief Justice Harvey's judgment were Mr. Justice Frank Ford, Mr. Justice A. Macdonald and Mr. Justice H. H. Parlee.

Land Crippled Plane In Hazardous Exploit

FORT WORTH, March 27, (AP)—Test Pilot B. A. Erickson jockeyed the world's largest land-based bomber—its landing gear crippled and one of its six engines silent—to a feather-light landing last night after an anxious six hours in the air.

TWELVE OF THE 14 men aboard the $20,000,000 B-36 had taken to their parachutes after the need for an emergency landing became apparent. Six of them were hurt as a stiff wind scattered them over a wide area west of Fort Worth.

But Erickson and Gus Green, Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Corporation operations manager, set the big ship down so lightly on its damaged right landing gear that no further damage was done to the craft.

Hundreds of soldiers and civilians surged out on the Fort Worth army air field as the 139-ton craft approached for a landing. The ship's plight had become known about two hours earlier.

The craft was moving at better than 100 miles an hour, but it came to a sudden stop. With great sureness it glided toward the 8,600 foot runway—longest in the United States.

THE SHIP GLIDED over the runway—about 40 feet off the concrete. It settled with deliberation. The two big wheels under the wings were down and so was the nosewheel.

Now you could see the pilots bring the right wing up. They wanted to put all the strain possible on the left wing wheel. The strut holding the right wing wheel in a straight downward position had failed. There was nothing to keep that wheel from folding up into the wing in case of a sudden bump or turn.

The idea was to keep the right wing up just as long as possible and that is what Green and Erickson did. The left wheel hit the runway. There was a little spurt of smoking rubber.

Slowly, the right wing came down and the right wheel touched. Now was the moment if a crash was to come. But the wheel took it. The right wing sagged down, lower than the left, but the failure was slight. The tremendous plane kept on rolling.

THE PLANE TOOK OFF on a test flight at 12:10 p.m. CST. It set down at 6:20 p.m.

Roland G. Mayer, manager of the Fort Worth division of Consolidated, builders of the plane, praised the "wonderful skill" of the landing. He was in radio contact with the plane through the long hours it flew to burn up excess gasoline and drop its passengers.

Death Probed

since October because Saul had fallen behind with this $40-a-month separation allowance.

An extract read in court said: "The only decent thing you can do is to disappear entirely for a three-year period so that your wife can claim widow's allowance... The RCMP have an address where they can contact you in due course... our advice to you is that you do a disappearing act for three years and quit writing to Canada as you are jeopardizing your wife's opportunity of receiving a widow's allowance in the future."

THE CANADIAN Department of Veterans Affairs was represented at the inquest and reported the circumstances of Saul's death to Ottawa. A spokesman said Saul was employed up to his death and had not sought financial aid from the department.

Saul served with the Royal Canadian Engineers in Europe for five years and was discharged in Calgary in 1945 and returned to England last year.

Mr. Hunter, who is assistant superintendent of civic relief, stated that Saul had deserted his wife last November, and had returned to England. He had agreed, prior to leaving for Britain, to contribute $40 monthly toward the support of his two children. No contribution had been received from him, and application was made to the city relief department by Mrs. Saul for aid.

UNDER THE Widows' Relief act to qualify a deserted wife to obtain relief, it is necessary for the applicant to be able to affirm that she has not had any contact, support or knowledge with her husband's residence. The communication sent from the relief department pointed this out to Saul and the suggestion was made, that he either assume his obligation to his wife and children, or cease to communicate with her, so that she could qualify for relief under the act.

When informed of the death of Mr. Saul, Mr. Hunter immediately went to Mrs. Saul to break the news of his death.

MAYOR HARRY AINLAY said he was sure that the letter addressed to Saul was written in good faith, in an attempt to help the deserted wife. He said that representations had been made on many occasions to provincial authorities seeking a change in the three years limitation period.

Under the terms of the act, a deserted wife might not know where her husband is living, or have heard from him for two years and 364 days, and on the last day of the three year period get news of him or from him, and automatically she was disbarred from participating in benefits provided by the act.

SPECIAL PROGRAM

A special Sunday school program is to be given at the Seventh-day Adventist church Saturday, March 29 in order to raise a fund of $40,000 for the enlargement of medical work in North Brazil, and the construction of a clinic in the city of Belém.

Tory Revolt

to attack vigorously socialistic legislation of the King government. An example cited is the new bill nationalizing the wheat industry of Canada.

ACCORDING TO one Toronto Progressive Conservative who would not be quoted, the present leadership of the party means that after the next election, the Progressive Conservatives may be the third or even fourth party in the house.

The specific counts in the charges to be laid against Mr. Bracken at the executive meeting of the association include these:

Though the King government shows every sign of internal deterioration, the Bracken party offers no clear-cut alternative to the King government. Mr. Bracken's group appears to stand for anything and everything that the King government favors.

Voters really wanting socialism will vote for the CCF or Labor-Progressive party candidates.

MR. BRACKEN's alleged attempts to appease the Socialists are merely alienating true blue Conservatives and have failed to attract independent or Liberal anti-Socialists.

Mr. Bracken has failed to display any fighting ability, generalship, or even will to combat socialist policies of the King government.

Gallup polls show Mr. Bracken is steadily losing strength.

In particular, it is charged that Mr. Bracken's course has not been guided by the Progressive Conservative principles, or any principles except vote-getting, the very charge that the PCs have always laid against Mr. King.

DESPITE THIS strong undercurrent of dissatisfaction with Mr. Bracken, however, an impartial survey of the situation does not have sufficient popular party support to oust Mr. Bracken's aide, Mr. Macdonnell. The rank and file are in a confused state of mind.

Mr. Diefenbaker's name has been advanced as a successor to Mr. Macdonnell on the ground of his ability to make headlines, adherence to PC principles, ability as a debater, and skill as a campaigner. But according to information received by the writer, Mr. Diefenbaker does not desire to take on the job of attempting to organize the party for an election.

Whether the movement to oust Mr. Macdonnell is successful or not, unquestionably the PC executive is going to demand a more determined fight in the house against the alleged catering to CCF socialist policies by the government.

THE LEADERS in this movement demand a definite program against socialism, against any further extension of government controls over individual industry and enterprise. In short, they form what might be termed the "ginger" group in the PC party, aimed to break up what they openly term "pusy-footing."

1947 Business

duction, tempered the investment prospects.

"In spite of the improved supply situation in the field of both basic and building materials," the report said, "it is unlikely that the available volume of supplies will be sufficient physically to support an overall increase of 53 percent in the intended volume of business investment in 1947."

BOTH REPORTS were prepared by the economic research branch of the reconstruction department with the assistance of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

The investment report covers manufacturing, mining, logging, utilities of all kinds, construction, banking and large segments of the retail, wholesale and service industries. These groups expect to spend "a little more than $1,000,000,000 on new capital goods—70 percent more than the estimated outlay achieved in 1946."

If to this amount are added what appear to be reasonable objectives for the year in other private investment fields, an aggregate capital expenditure program of something over $1,700,000,000 is obtained. This program is 53 percent above the outlay achieved in 1946.

ACCORDING TO THE basic and building material report, "significant" production increases are expected during 1947 for seven of the 10 basic materials reviewed.

Pig iron production is expected to increase 36 percent, nickel 28, steel castings 24, copper 21, and lumber six. Lead and zinc are expected to remain about unchanged.

Production intentions for 1947 of manufacturers of 29 types of building materials showed a general improvement. Showing increases of less than 10 percent were cement, structural tile, gypsum wallboard, lath and plaster, cast iron radiators, and paints, varnishes and lacquers.

Increases of 10 to 19 percent are expected in concrete brick and building blocks, cement drain pipe, sewer pipe, water pipe and culvert pipe, asphalt shingles, steel pipes, tubes and fittings, wash basins, hot water storage tanks and builders' hardware.

INCREASES OF between 20 and 30 percent are expected in production of bulk rock wool, cast iron soil pipe and fittings, sinks, furnaces, electric water heaters, wire nails and spikes.

Increases of 40 percent or more are expected in rock wool batts, bath tubs and non-metallic sheathing cable.

Plan Tour Of Highway

On a tour of Western Army Command, which will likely include a trip over the Alaska Highway, Col. J. W. Bishop, OBE, deputy master-general of ordnance for the Canadian Army, Ottawa, and Lt-Col. R. F. Johnson, OBE, assistant director of the mechanical vehicles, both of the Royal Canadian Electrical and Mechanical Engineers, were in Edmonton Thursday.

The many vehicles used on the Alaska Highway by Canadian Army engineers are standing up well and in general the road is being maintained in a very good condition, Col. Bishop said.

While in the west the officers hope to confer with Maj-Gen. F. F. Worthington, CBE, MC, MM, ED, commanding Western Army Command.

Plan Thorough Studies

Mt. McKinley Party Stops Here Briefly

Members of the expedition which plans to scale the 20,300-foot peak of Alaska's Mount McKinley—highest on the North American continent—intend to leave behind them a legacy of equipment which will aid any interested party—Canadian or—American—which may follow, Bradford Washburn, head of the expedition, said in an interview today.

SLIGHT, ENERGETIC Mr. Washburn, 36 years old and a director of the new England museum of national history at Boston, said during a brief stop at the municipal airport on the way from Minneapolis to Anchorage, Alaska, that the expedition's primary purpose is scientific.

H. T. Vietsoreen, University of Chicago physicist, will study the action of cosmic rays at the mountain's 18,000-foot level. The expedition will make meteorological observations requested by the United States weather bureau.

"WE WILL ALSO make a geological collection, purely for general interest," said Mr. Washburn. "It will have no practical value but it will round out an otherwise reasonably good knowledge of the geology of the area."

One load of equipment already has been flown into Anchorage for trans-shipment by air to a base to be established at the mountain's 6,000-foot level.

PHOTOGRAPHIC reconnaissance will be carried out with Canadian-designed aircraft (Norsemen) and equipment will be shuttled into the glacier by two Alaskan air lines and bush pilots.

Equipment will be parachuted by the 10th rescue squadron of the United States Army Air Forces, based at Elmendorf field at Anchorage.

Mr. Washburn said he anticipated no difficulty with fixed or free drops of equipment, but "smooth air" would be required to carry this out effectively from the 15,000-foot level up, necessitating good weather.

Three Mentioned For Leadership

Rumors as to prospective Liberal leaders in the province followed the announcement by J. W. Stambaugh, president of the Alberta Liberal Association, that a convention to nominate a leader is to be held in Edmonton.

NAMES MENTIONED as possible leaders include Col. J. H. Tremblay, former Liberal member of the legislative assembly for Grouard; Harold J. Riley, Jr., of Calgary, and Harper Prowse, MLA, Army representative.

The only one of these prospective leaders who was available for comment was Mr. Prowse.

"THE TIME has not yet arrived for me to have political affiliations," Mr. Prowse said, "but I will make an announcement when I feel the time is opportune."

He said that he had not yet been officially approached by any political group, though overtures had been received from individuals of various parties.

PUBLIC AFFAIRS in the province were shaping up for an election, he thought.

"Bearing this in mind," he said, "I will have to make a decision in the near future."

Elks Convention Called for June 9
The annual convention of the Alberta Elks Association will be held in Calgary on Monday and Tuesday, June 9 and 10, with the association president M. H. Waldron, Okotoks, in the chair. The usual competition for the Roy Penfold Shield will be held on the first evening with the Blairmore patrol team defending. This team has won it three years in succession.

Gerhart Rejects Injunction Plan

A suggestion advanced by Elmer E. Roper (CCF-Edmonton) that the power to enforce injunctions by management in labor disputes be made subject to the Board of Industrial Relations was rejected by Hon. C. E. Gerhart, minister of trade and industry, Wednesday afternoon, in committee of the whole of the Legislature.

THE COMMITTEE had considered the province's new Labor Act at a previous sitting and at that time Mr. Roper had suggested a clause be inserted in the act to make injunctions against labor subject to approval of the board.

Mr. Gerhart gave it as his personal opinion that such an amendment should not be inserted in the new act.

"After all," he pointed, "an injunction is used to prevent illegal acts."

Mr. Roper protested that injunctions had been used illegally against labor unions, but by the time the courts had determined that the injunction was in fact illegal the damage to the labor cause had been done.

Election Act Under Review
Assembly Rejects Plan To Swear In City Voters

Provision should be made by amendment to the Alberta Election Act for swearing in of voters in city constituencies, A. J. E. Leisner (CCF-Calgary) told the committee of the whole in the Legislative Assembly Wednesday afternoon. At the time, election act revisions were under study.

HE WAS AFRAID many might be disenfranchised in the cities unless such provision were made, but his amendment calling for this step was voted down.

Hon. Lucien Maynard, KC, attorney-general, who was chairman of a committee set up to consider amendments to the Election Act, said the committee had given consideration to such a provision.

Experiences in the past, he said, indicated that extension of this right to the cities led to grave abuses of the rights conferred. For that reason it had been dropped from an earlier edition of the act and the committee did not feel it would be wise to re-introduce it.

A. V. Bourcier (SC-Lac Ste. Anne), thought voters should still be able to use both the X and the numeral in marking ballots.

"So long as the voter expresses his preference, what difference does it make?" he enquired.

The attorney-general said a mistake had been made when the use of both systems had been permitted, but that was no reason to perpetuate the mistake or to make another one.

Start Core-Drilling In Wabamun District

Prospecting crews have been core-drilling in the Wabamun district, 65 miles west of Edmonton, J. Grant Spratt, managing director of Anglo-Canadian Oil Co., Ltd., said on arrival here from Calgary Thursday.

ON THE RESULTS of the core-drilling will rest decision of the company to continue with another phase of the company's program in this area, of actual drilling for oil.

The Anglo-Canadian has approximately 175,000 acres under lease in the Wabamun area.

Mr. Spratt said he could make no announcement at this time concerning results of the core-drilling that has been done to date.

Work will continue on company leased property at Beaver Hill Lake, east of Edmonton, where in co-operation with Imperial Oil Co. Ltd., one well was drilled last summer, Mr. Spratt said.

THE COMPANY plans to drill a second well on its own property in that district this coming summer.

Work will also likely be continued by Anglo-Canadian in the Elk Point district about 180 miles north-east of Edmonton, where three wells that produced salt were drilled last year.

Aldermen Establish New Record

1947 Mill Rate Remains at 49½; Council Speeds Estimates' Passage

The 1947 mill rate was set by city council Wednesday night at 49½ mills, the same rate that has prevailed for several years.

Something of a record was established as aldermen completed their deliberations on the estimates and set the mill rate in two meetings. Usually three or more meetings have been necessary to finish this work.

Mayor Harry Ainlay informed aldermen that although the commissioners' negotiations with the Federation of Civic Employees had not been completed, the pay increases proposed would only affect the budget figures by approximately $16,000. He said the Federation had abandoned its request for a $20 a month increase for all civic employees to meet the cost of living increase.

Approval of council was given to expenditure estimates totalling $6,323,860 for general departmental activities, grants to school boards, and miscellaneous grants to charitable organizations, hospitals, and interest and debenture charges.

Utility expenditures on operational accounts passed amounted to $7,528,484, with revenue listed at $7,523,825.

Capital estimates passed for the five utilities totalling $4,096,219, of which amount $3,734,951 will be available in renewal reserve accounts leaving a balance of $361,268 to be capitalized. However, commissioners stated that slow delivery of supplies would not permit the carrying through of the complete construction program this year.

COUNCIL APPROVED capital expenditures in the engineers' department of $2,078,605, of which $1,558,490 will be borne by the city at large and $519,619 by property owners.

A. W. Haddow, city engineer, said that many of the projects listed for construction this year would have to be carried into 1948 because of shortage of materials.

City Commissioner D. B. Menies informed aldermen that to obtain supplies of materials it was necessary to make the appropriations now, and hope for delivery late this year or early in 1948.

When New Well "Comes In" Conservation Starts Almost Immediately

This is the sixth and last of a series of articles about the search for oil in Alberta, which is of special interest in Edmonton and district because of the recent discovery at Leduc. Previous articles have dealt with field geology and exploration, core drilling, mud engineering and the drilling of an oil well such as Leduc No. 1.—Editor.

By George Lawrence.

Scarcely had the oil well near Leduc been put on production when conservation measures went into effect to curb the immediate and increase the ultimate flow of oil.

UNLIKE THE fertile fields above it, the porous limestone formation under Mike Turia's farm produces strictly a one-time crop. Once the oil has been taken out it cannot be replaced; under ideal production only about 80 per cent can be harvested, and if it were produced wastefully this might drop to as low as 15 per cent.

If time and additional drilling proved up a field in the Leduc area, conservation will be extremely important, because it directly affects the customer's pocketbook. The man who drives a car or uses fuel oil or other petroleum products must pay more money if the crude supply comes from fields thousands of miles away in the United States.

NATURE HAS stored most crude oil in porous rock reservoirs far below the surface of the earth, where it often has accumulated under tremendous pressure.

In the old days these fields produced gushers; today, although the same pressure may be tapped, the wells are not allowed to "gush." Gushing wastefully dissipates this pressure, and means that much oil which might have flowed naturally to the surface must be lifted by pumps, or never recovered.

PETROLEUM engineers like Maurice Paulson, who has been on duty at Leduc No. 1 since it came on production, strive to get as much oil as possible to the surface without pumping, for pumping adds extra costs. They also try to prevent early water intrusion, because this seals off pockets of oil and causes loss and waste.

Petroleum engineers know that there is natural gas dissolved in the oil under pressure. When the well pierces the porous rock formation containing the oil and gas much the same action takes place as when the nozzle on a soda siphon is opened. The gas, seeking to escape, carries the oil upward with it but the engineer does not like to rely on this lifting force. Today, petroleum engineers attempt to conserve the energy in the producing formation. In certain fields the gas which is dissolved in the oil and which is produced and separated from the oil at the surface is put back into the formation. This is done with compressors or pumps.

In other areas, water which exists below the oil may be under sufficient pressure to push upwards as the oil is taken out. This "natural water drive" may be controlled by careful adjustment of rates of oil production. Under ideal conditions a controlled natural water drive will flush out of the formation most of the oil, whereas in the old days "wide-open" production left much of the oil locked in the ground and never recovered.

Very recently, in the United States, water has actually been pumped into the lower parts of an oil field to increase the force of the natural water drive. Finally, engineers may even combine their control of the water and gas put back into the formation.

Many people wondered why the Leduc well produced roughly twice as much oil on its first day of production than in any following day. The reason is that the mud which is a part of all oil well drilling operations had to be flushed out of the porous, honeycombed rock side of the hole. If it were allowed to remain it might seal off permanently many of the pores through which the oil flows.

AS SOON as the well was cleaned by this "flush" production of "choke" of various sizes were used to control the flow at the top of the well. In addition Paulson and other engineers began a complicated series of pressure tests as the well flowed through chokes of one-sixteenth, one-quarter, five-sixteenths and other sizes.

The purpose of these tests was to make the gas at the bottom of the well, and any other form of drive which might be present, coax every gallon of oil possible to the surface.

OIL COMPANIES and governments work closely in oil and gas conservation measures. In Alberta the Petroleum and Natural Gas Conservation Board fixes acreage limits for oil well spacing.

It placed a limit on the amount of natural gas which may be produced with crude oil, so that it will not be allowed to flow wastefully and enforces many other regulations designed to bring as much of Alberta's resources of crude oil to the surface as is economically possible.

In spite of the widespread efforts to find oil in Alberta the province today is importing oil for its needs, and the cost of transportation must be added to the final price. When oil is discovered conservation is a matter of personal concern to all, because in a field of any size it must mean more and cheaper oil.

Attach No Blame In Traffic Death

Accidentally killed with no blame attached to any person or persons was the verdict brought in by a six-man coroner's jury at the inquest into the death of H. B. Sinclair, Kingsway trailer camp, held in city police court Wednesday afternoon.

SEVENTY-TWO-year-old Sinclair was killed on March 18 when struck by a truck driven by Corporal James A. McIntyre, RCAF service police. The accident occurred on 111 avenue near 104 street.

McIntyre told court he did not know he had struck the man until flagged down by Corporal A. Laumon, RCAF, who informed him he had just knocked a man down.

Dr. Morton Hall, Royal Alexandra Hospital, who performed the post mortem, said that Sinclair died as a result of shock and hemorrhage following multiple injuries.

Dr. E. A. Braithwaite, chief coroner, was in charge of the inquest.

Detail Payments To Board Members

Payments to members of the Alberta Social Credit Board for travelling and subsistence allowances for the season 1944-45 and 1945-46 were given in a return tabled in the Legislative Assembly Wednesday afternoon.

TOP PAYMENTS for subsistence in both years went to N. B. James (SC-Edmonton) who received $2,036 in 1944-45 for 257 days and $2,016 for 232 days in 1945-46.

Chairman of the board, A. V. Bourcier (SC-Lac Ste. Anne) collected $1,728 in the first year and $1,912 in the second for subsistence, while in the same years W. Tomyn (SC-Willington) received $1,992 and $1,872.

F. M. Baker with $112 and $312 got the lowest allowance of any board member.

L. D. Byrne, technical adviser to the board, drew a ministerial economic affairs, was paid $105 in 1944-45 and $36.00 in 1945-46.

Hon. R. Earl Ansley, now minister of education, was a member of the board in 1944 and received $944 for subsistence for 118 days.

Travelling expenses for the entire board were $510.71 for the first year reported on and $193 for the second.

Thirteen Bills Pass Committee

Thirteen bills were considered by committee of the whole in the Legislative Assembly Wednesday afternoon. Minor amendments appeared for some of them, but most of the legislation was speeded through committee.

INCLUDED WERE an act to make uniform the law respecting defamations; acts incorporating the University of Alberta Foundation and the Banff Foundation; an act with amendments to the Irrigation Districts Act, the Crop Payment (Irrigated Land Sales) Act and the Water Resources Act.

A bulky piece of legislation, giving the province the right, in line with the Dominion-Provincial transfer agreement, to levy five per cent tax on corporate incomes was approved. This tax is collected by the federal government and a refund is made to the provinces.

Objections to a section of the bill which dealt with the earnings of co-operatives was taken by Elmer E. Roper (CCF-Edmonton), but Premier Ernest Manning pointed out that for one province to delete this section of the bill would lead to confusion. All other provinces under the tax transfer agreement are considering similar legislation.

Member's Letter Causes Complaint

Producing a copy of a letter appearing in an Edmonton newspaper, Elmer E. Roper (CCF-Edmonton) asked why H. E. Debolt (SC-Spirit River) had not made statements in the house, with the made in his communication to the newspaper.

IN HIS LETTER, Mr. Debolt complained that questions asked by Mr. Roper in the house had been based on misinformation, and he denied in the letter that he had submitted more than one bid for fire insurance for a school district. He also had stated that newspaper stories to the effect that insurance was offered at 60 cents and at a $1 a thousand were "absurd."

Mr. Roper said he doubted if he had used the expression "per thousand" but suggested that Mr. Debolt should have answered questions put to him in the house instead of writing letters to the papers about it.

Mr. Debolt had sprung to his feet when the Speaker ruled that since there was no motion before the house, Mr. Roper's question of privilege was not debatable.

Ease Restrictions Ex-Soldiers' Clubs

Ex-service-men's clubs and clubs of the American Legion will be forced to operate for one year only before they can make application for a license to sell beverages, according to terms of an amendment to the Alberta Liquor Control Act, given first reading in the Legislative Assembly Wednesday afternoon. Under present regulations, three years is set as the period in which clubs must be in existence before a license is granted. A further amendment permits those operating canteens for reserve force units to sell beer by the bottle or glass.

To Decide Owners Of Natural Gas

Ownership, disposition and payment for gas which has been piped back into the ground in a section of Turner Valley will be regulated by the Natural Gas Utilities Board, according to a bill amending the Natural Gas Utilities Act which was introduced into the Legislature Wednesday afternoon.

IN THE SECTION of Turner Valley referred to more gas is produced than there is a market for, so the surplus gas is returned to the ground under a repressuring system. It is not returned to the producing wells.

The board is authorized under the amendments to determine the payment for those in control of wells which are being used to create pressure in other areas. At some time in the future this gas will be used for commercial purposes.

Daughter Of First Speaker In City

An interested visitor to the Speaker's gallery in the Legislative Assembly Tuesday was Miss Mary H. Wilson, now of Victoria, daughter of the first Speaker of the Legislative Assembly of the Northwest Territories.

HE WAS DR. Herbert C. Wilson, whose home was in Edmonton while he occupied the chair, and presided over deliberations of the pioneer legislators.

Though the first sessions of this parliament were in Regina, Miss Wilson's mother presented the first Speaker's chair two years ago to the Alberta assembly, rather than donate it to a museum.

Hon. Peter Dawson, now Speaker, does not use the chair, which stands on the floor of the assembly chamber.

Before The Magistrate

Apprehended while stealing a tow chain from the compound at the American air base Tuesday night, Philip H. Pfeiffer, 12419 80 street, and Reinhold Pfeiffer, 8819 124 avenue, were found guilty on a charge of theft when they appeared before Magistrate A. I. Miller, in city police court Wednesday. They were remanded until March 31 for sentence.

Sgt. R. W. Barlow, special investigator for the RCAF service police, said he apprehended the two while they were in the act of removing the chain from the compound about 9:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Fresh from the bush, and having had too many drinks were excuses put forth by Earl Sellers, Edmonton, when he appeared on a wilful damage charge. The accused kicked in a door at a city cafe Tuesday night. He was fined $20 and costs for being intoxicated and $5 and costs on the damage count. He was also ordered to pay $8 damages to the cafe proprietor.

Principals' Group Elects Officers

A. V. Cameron was elected new president of the Edmonton Principals' Association as a result of a recent meeting held in the school board rooms. The association also includes assistant principals.

Other officers elected for the year were: honorary president, R. S. Sheppard, superintendent of schools; past president, Ben Hager; vice-president, George Davies; recording secretary, John Kulak; program chairman, George Bayly; treasurer, Mrs. M. Sorenson; elementary representative, Miss McIvor, and E. B. Coley, intermediate representative. E. M. Beckwith, and A. J. H. Powell, representative of supervisors, J. N. Eagleton.

Provision Criticized

All Workers Must Vote For Bargaining Agent

Alberta's new labor act contains a provision stating that the election of a bargaining agent for employees shall be determined by a majority vote of workers whose interests are involved.

THIS CLAUSE, Hon. C. E. Gerhart, minister of trade and industry, was called upon to defend Wednesday afternoon as the Legislature in committee of the whole assembly was dealing with the new act.

He insisted, in the face of attacks from all sides, that the provision safeguarded interests of the workers, since if a simple majority of those voting was all that was necessary to elect a bargaining agent, small groups could easily dominate whole sections of workers.

An amendment to the bill which would have elected a bargaining agent on the vote of a majority of those voting was rejected by the committee.

Gordon Taylor (SC-Drumheller) was responsible for the amendment. He was supported by W. J. Williams (Vet-Edmonton).

PROTESTS AGAINST a clause in the bill which would permit employees to work an hour over the eight-hour limit were heard.

This clause in the bill would permit an employer to retain his help for an extra hour each day, so long as the weekly minimum was not exceeded.

It was suggested by Mr. Williams (Vet-Edmonton) and N. B. James (SC-Edmonton) that some of the larger stores work their employees for longer periods.

The minister replied that large department stores were not working employees overtime. There was no suggestion of it, he added.

Lambs Can't Pull Wool Over His Eyes

Using his shepherd's crook with the know-how of an old hand at the game, Jimmy, seventh in a long line of Aspers, England, shepherds, catches his little lamb by the right hind leg. The fat, wooly, crook his great-grandfather carried over 100 years ago. Jimmy's mother said the first sound the child ever heard was a sheep bleating.

Africans Again Sold as Slaves

NEW YORK, (NANA)—The long-dominant slave trade from Africa across the Red Sea into Arabia has taken a fresh lease on life, according to a survey by the Swiss weekly, Pour-Tout.

Reporting that the revived traffic in young Negro men and women was due to a relaxing of British naval patrols in the Red Sea, the publication says that the most attractive women slaves usually bring well over $30 or $40 ($120 to $160) average for women from Arabia, enriched by U.S. oil royalties and increased in increasing their harems.

With male slaves bringing as much as $80 ($320), the traffic has soared above its past level.

Most of the captives come from the Ivory Coast, the Cameroons or the Congo and are assembled at Khartoum in the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan for the journey across the Red Sea during which 20 percent of them are said to die.

Bolivian miners got a 30 percent wage increase after threatening strikes.

In the British zone of Germany, 73 paper mills are shut down for lack of coal.

South Africa is considering adoption of the metric system.
